JURISDICTION OF THE SOCIAL SERVICES APPEAL BOARD

The Social Services Appeal Board (SSAB) is the independent appeal body for the majority of programs and services provided by the Department of Families. The board reports directly to the Minister of Families.

The SSAB was first established in 1959 by The Department of Welfare Act. In 1974, that act was repealed and the SSAB continued under the provisions within The Social Services Administration Act. On February 18, 2002, The Social Services Appeal Board Act was proclaimed.

Under The Social Services Appeal Board Act, the SSAB has the ability to determine its own administrative policies and procedures. The board's decisions cannot be overturned by the minister's office. Only the board, through a reconsideration of its decision, or the Court of Appeal, may overturn a decision.

There are several different decisions that can be appealed. These are summarized below:

Adoption Agency Licensing

Under Section 9 of The Adoption Act, an individual may file an appeal with the SSAB if the director refuses to issue a licence for an adoption agency. An individual may also file an appeal if a licence that was previously issued has been suspended, cancelled or not renewed.

Child Care Facility Licensing

A person who is refused a licence for the operation of a child care facility other than a foster home or whose licence is suspended, cancelled or refused renewal may appeal this decision to the SSAB under Section 8(5) of The Child and Family Services Act.

Child Care Licensing and Subsidies

Section 20 of The Community Child Care Standards Act allows the SSAB to hear appeals on the following four issues:

- the refusal to issue a licence to a child care facility
- the suspension or revocation of a child care facility licence
- the imposition of terms or conditions on a child care facility licence
- the denial or amount of a child care subsidy

Child Care Qualifications Certification

Section 30 of The Community Care Standards Act allows a person to appeal when they do not agree with the Director's decision regarding their application for a child care certificate.

Financial Assistance Programs

Employment and Income Assistance Program AND Rent Assist

Subsection 9(3) of The Manitoba Assistance Act gives an individual the right to appeal to the SSAB for the following reasons:

- a. he or she was not allowed to apply or re-apply for income assistance or general assistance or shelter assistance
- b. his or her request for income assistance, general assistance or shelter assistance or for an increase in income assistance, general assistance or shelter assistance was not decided upon within a reasonable time
- c. his or her application for income assistance, general assistance, or shelter assistance was denied
- d. his or her income assistance, general assistance or shelter assistance was cancelled, suspended, varied or withheld
- e. the amount of income assistance, general assistance or shelter assistance granted is insufficient to meet his or her needs

55 PLUS Junior Component

The Junior Component of the 55 PLUS Program provides applicants with the right to appeal to the SSAB if an applicant is told that they are not eligible to receive benefits under the 55 PLUS Program. An appeal may also be filed if an individual disagrees with the level of benefits that they are receiving under the program. The right to appeal for these reasons is granted under Section 9 of the Income Supplement for Persons Not Eligible for Old Age Security Benefits (55 PLUS) regulation of The Social Services Administration Act.

Manitoba Prenatal Benefit

If an individual disagrees with the assessment or re-assessment of their Manitoba Prenatal Benefit, the individual can appeal the decision under Section 12 of the Manitoba Prenatal Benefit regulation under The Social Services Administration Act.

Residential Care Facility Licensing

A person may appeal to the SSAB the department's decision to deny, suspend or cancel a licence for a residential care facility. An individual may also file an appeal with the SSAB if a letter of approval relating to a residential care facility is cancelled or suspended. The right to appeal these decisions for adult facilities is granted under Section 13 of The Social Services Administration Act.

Employability Assistance for People with Disabilities (Eligibility)

The SSAB hears appeals regarding the Employability Assistance for People with Disabilities. An appeal may be filed if the director refuses an application on the grounds that the applicant does not meet the eligibility criteria for enrolment. The right to appeal this decision is granted under Section 6 of the Vocational Rehabilitation of Disabled Persons regulation under The Social Services Administration Act.

Community Living disABILITY Services (Eligibility and Individual Care Plan)

The SSAB is responsible for hearing appeals regarding The Vulnerable Persons Living with a Mental Disability Act. Section 16 of the act allows individuals to appeal when a person's eligibility for entrance into the program is denied, or there is a dispute concerning an individual's support services plan.

THE APPEAL AND HEARING PROCESS

Appeals are accepted by mail, fax, or in person at the SSAB office. An appeal can be made in the form of a handwritten letter or by filling out the Notice of Appeal form. The appeal must be in writing and submitted within 30 days from the time the appellant receives the decision they are appealing, although the SSAB may extend this time period.

Once an appeal is received, a copy is faxed to the respondent (the person who made the decision). The respondent is required to prepare a report outlining why the decision was made, and to include any documented evidence upon which the decision was made.

A copy of the respondent's report and a Notice of Hearing is mailed to the appellant. The SSAB is required to hold the hearing within 30 days after the appeal is received, unless the appellant requests a longer time.

The SSAB has the power to summon witnesses if required.

The appellant may bring a person to the appeal to support them or help them present their case, but this is not a requirement.

At the hearing, three members of the SSAB will sit as a panel to hear the appeal. The appellant is required to attend, as is a representative for the relevant program. Each party provides a short presentation and the SSAB may ask any questions they need in order to make their decision. The SSAB's decision is made in private following the hearing. A letter with the SSAB's decision and the reasons for the decision is mailed to the appellant within 15 days.

Decisions made by the SSAB are subject to reconsideration or application for leave to appeal from the Court of Appeal.

More detailed information about the SSAB's Policies and Procedures can be found at: <http://www.gov.mb.ca/fs/ssab/index.html>.

SUMMARY OF ADVISORY ACTIVITIES

Under The Social Services Appeal Board Act, the SSAB has the responsibility to advise and make recommendations about matters that relate to the designated social services. The board Chair met once with the Minister of Families during the 2018/19 fiscal year.

Since 2016/17, the SSAB has raised the issue of eligibility for the Community Living disABILITY Services (CLDS) program. The opinion was that the Department of Families relied on the outdated diagnostic criteria found in the fourth edition of the Diagnostic and Statistical Manual (DSM-IV), rather than the more recent diagnostic criteria set out in the fifth edition (DSM-V). The SSAB was concerned that the department's reliance on DSM-IV did not fully consider the effect impaired adaptive functioning had on an individual's overall level of functioning.

Starting in 2017/18, the SSAB has begun using the DSM-V criteria when considering appeals related to eligibility. Since that time, the SSAB has noticed an increase in the consideration the department gives to adaptive functioning, and a decrease in the number of appeals where the appellant has intellectual functioning in the Low Borderline range and adaptive functioning in the Extremely Low range. The SSAB recommends that the department revise its eligibility policy to reflect its evolving view on adaptive functioning.

Even with the use of the DSM-V criteria, service gaps exist for those adults who have extremely low adaptive behaviours, but do not meet the clinical definition of a significant intellectual impairment. Often, disorders such as autism or fetal alcohol syndrome leave the adult with the inability to live and function independently and without services to support them.

For a number of years, the SSAB has acted in its advisory role to the Minister of Families by raising concerns about the gap in services to adults who do not fit the criteria for the CLDS program but have extremely diminished ability to function on their own.

The SSAB is concerned that it continues to hear appeals from individuals who require intensive supports but do not qualify for the CLDS program. The SSAB empathizes with the families of these individuals, recognizing the physical, emotional and financial burden they bear when these individuals cannot access services. The SSAB continues to raise this issue, and recommends the Minister of Families take steps to address the gap in services.
